

Pinos Altos Museum
Courtesy struck.us

Pinos Altos Post Office
Courtesy galenfryinger.com

Hearst Church - Built in 1898
Courtesy D. M. Thorne

Pinos Altos Mercantile
Courtesy western-ghost-towns.com

Fort Cobre (SW Corner)
Courtesy Bob Turner

Fort Cobre (South Wall)
Courtesy Bob Turner

Buckhorn Saloon
Courtesy anninvitation.com

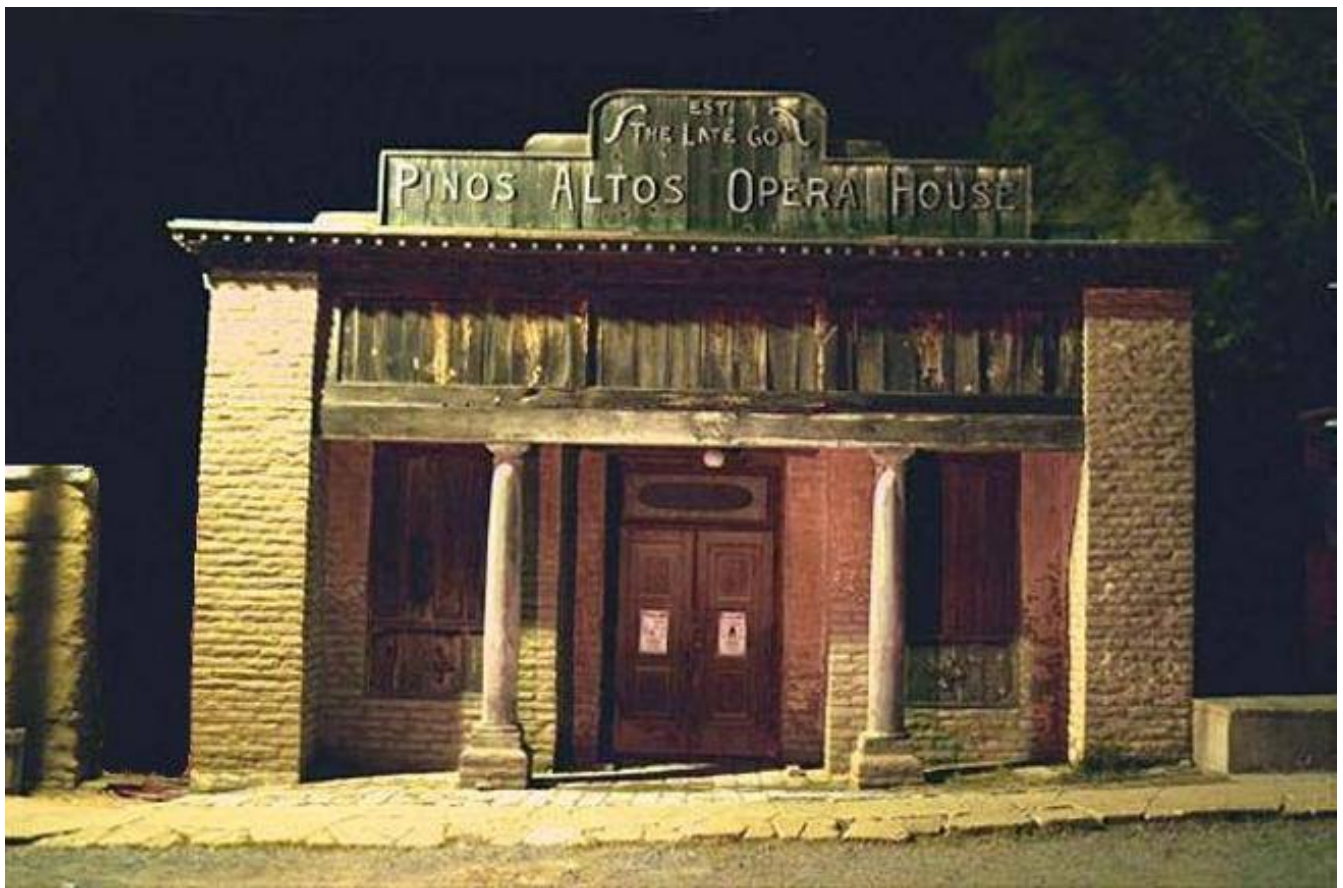

John McDonald's Cabin
Courtesy struck.us

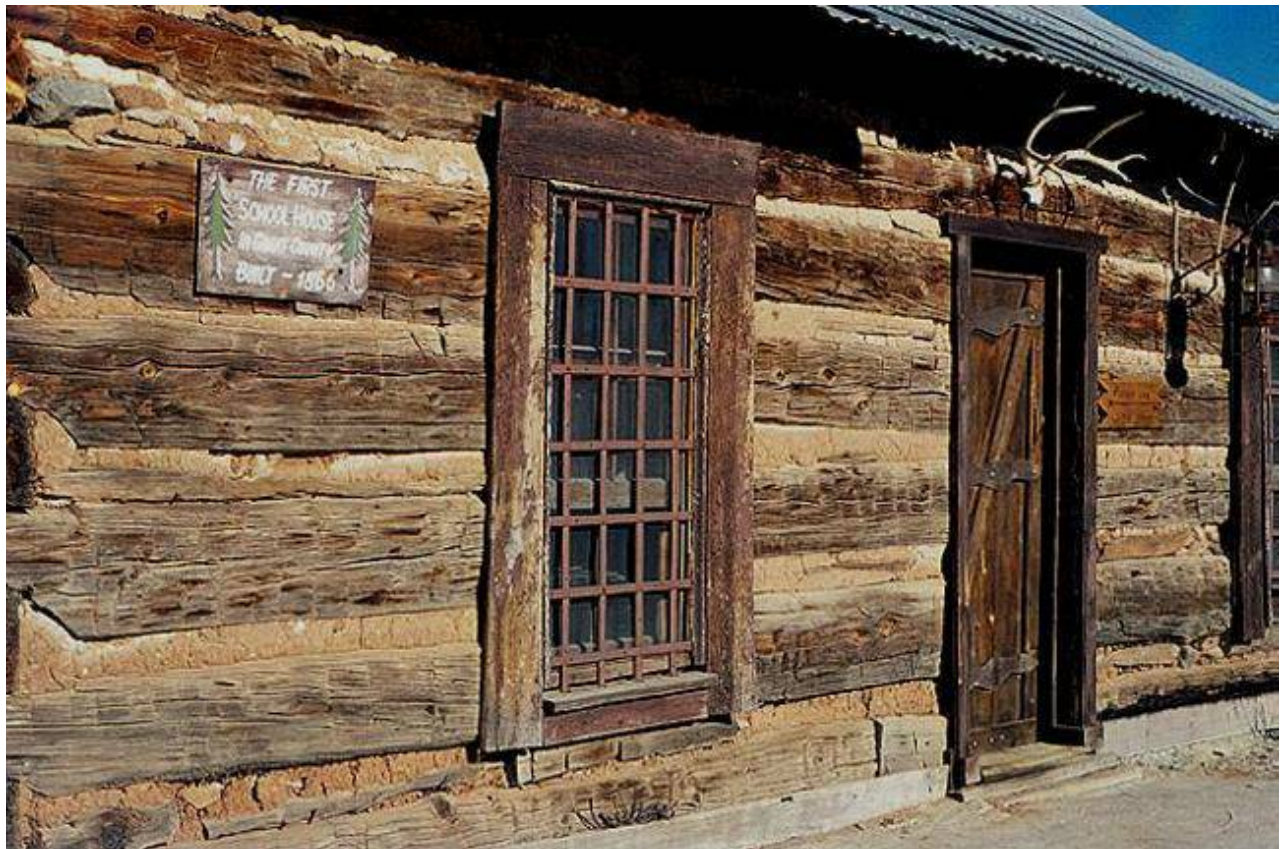

Old Fort Trading Post
Courtesy zianet.com

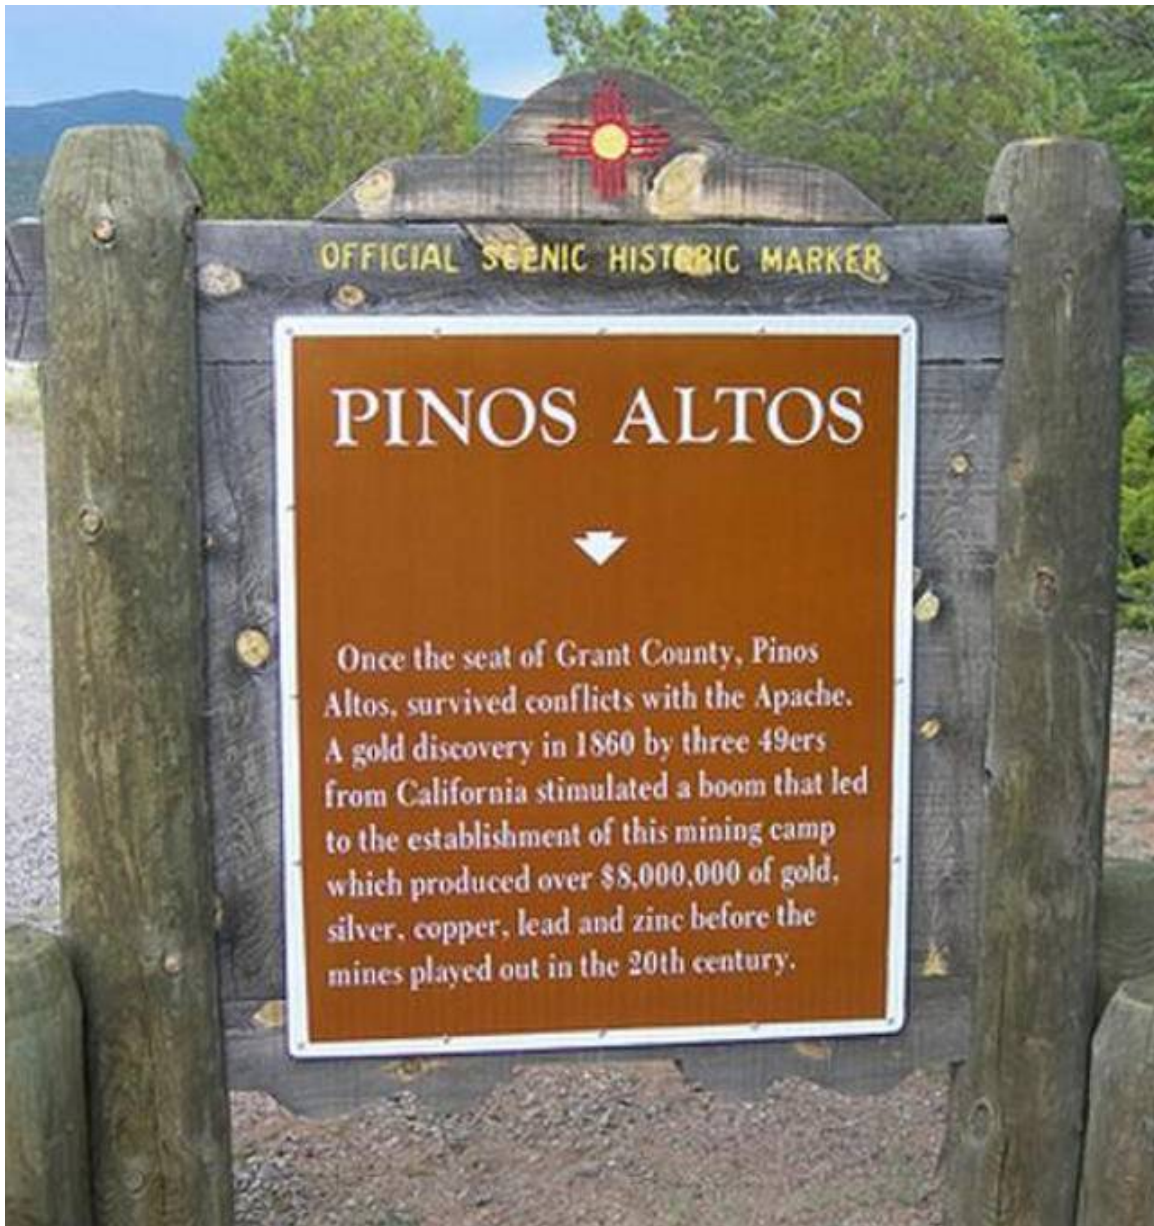

Gold Mine Head Frame Near Pinos Altos
Courtesy Russell Lee

Pinos Altos Opera House
Courtesy ghosttowngallery.com

1st School House in Pinos Altos - Built 1866
Courtesy galenfrysinger.com

Pinos Altos

Once the seat of Grant County, Pinos Altos survived conflicts with the Apache. A gold discovery in 1860 by three 49ers from California stimulated a boom that led to the establishment of this mining camp which produced over $8,000,000 of gold, silver, copper lead and zinc before the mines played out in the 20th century.